PROGRAM REPORT
A WEBINAR ON "POST-COVID CHANGES"
25.06.2021

On June 25, 2021, at 7:00 PM, Dr. Abdulla Adil, Senior Resident in Critical Care Medicine, conducted a webinar titled "Post-COVID Changes." This event focused on highlighting the enduring impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic on healthcare systems, society, and individuals. Throughout the webinar, Dr. Adil discussed crucial topics such as long-term health effects, healthcare system resilience, the rise of telemedicine, mental health consequences, vaccine distribution, global collaboration, and health equity.

Dr. Abdulla Adil's webinar on post-COVID changes provided valuable insights into the long-term impact of the pandemic on healthcare systems, society, and individuals. The presentation shed light on the need for healthcare infrastructure improvements, the accelerated adoption of telemedicine, the significance of addressing mental health concerns, the challenges of long COVID syndrome, and the importance of vaccination campaigns. This information will be crucial for healthcare professionals, policymakers, and researchers as they navigate the post-pandemic landscape and work towards building more resilient and responsive healthcare systems. About 37 participants attended the program.
