

LIBRARY AUTOMATION

GEMS Library and Research Center is integrated using Integrated Library Management System. Library automated in the year 2010 with the Book Magic Software and converted to Koha ILM software in 2018. Currently the software is running with the version (18.11.04.000). Koha is a full-featured integrated library system that provides you the tools you need for every task on a single, clean, web-based interface. Koha helps to work smoothly for the daily activities of the library, mainly circulation, cataloging, identifying the location etc. OPAC stands for "Online Public Access Catalog." It is a computerized system that allows users to search and access the library's catalog of materials over the internet. OPACs have replaced traditional card catalogs in many libraries, offering a more efficient and user-friendly way to discover and locate library resources. An OPAC (online Public access Catalog) is linked to Koha. The Users can check the status of their library account and the availability status of books in the library. The Gems Library and Research Center has provided Users with a Kiosk machine with OPAC facilities where users can explore the resources available at the library.
