CULTURAL FASHION SHOW ON NATIONAL TOURISM DAY- DEPARTMENT OF BACHELOR OF TRAVEL AND TOURISM MANAGEMENT

DATE: 25/01/2020

PROGRAMME REPORT

On January 25, 2020, the Department of Bachelor of Travel and Tourism Management (BTTM) at Gems College organised a captivating cultural fashion show to mark the occasion of National Tourism Day. The event unfolded along the vibrant backdrop of the college corridor, setting the stage for a memorable celebration.

A total of 31 enthusiastic students from Gems College enthusiastically participated in this programme, showcasing the rich and diverse cultures from around the world. Each participant brought to life the essence of a different country through their attire, music, and dance, creating a visual feast for the audience.

The cultural fashion show not only celebrated the beauty of various global traditions but also highlighted the role of tourism in fostering cultural exchange and understanding. It was a testament to the department's commitment to promoting cultural diversity and appreciation among its students.

The event drew a substantial crowd, including both students and faculty, who cheered on the participants as they gracefully paraded down the college corridor. It was a joyful reminder of the importance of tourism in bridging cultural gaps and promoting cross-cultural awareness.

In conclusion, the cultural fashion show organized by the Department of BTTM on National Tourism Day was a resounding success, exemplifying the power of tourism to unite people through the celebration of cultural diversity.

AIDS DAY AWARENESS -DRAMATIC MIME PERFORMANCE

COLLEGE STUDENTS UNION

DATE: 02/12/2019

PROGRAMME REPORT

The College Union of the academic year 2018-19 organised an impactful AIDS Day awareness programme on December 2, 2019. The event took place in the college corridor at 12:30 p.m. The aim of this program was to spread awareness about AIDS and promote understanding and support for those affected by the disease. One of the main highlights of the programme was a dramatic mime performance, which effectively conveyed the message about the importance of AIDS awareness and prevention. The mime portrayed the struggles and challenges faced by individuals living with HIV/AIDS and emphasised the significance of empathy and support in our society.

The event witnessed active participation from students, faculty, and staff. The thought-provoking mime performance left a lasting impact on the audience, making them more aware of the issues surrounding AIDS. The College Union's AIDS Day awareness programme in 2018–19 was a commendable effort to educate and sensitise the college community about the importance of AIDS awareness. The dramatic mime performance was a creative and engaging way to convey the message and foster a more compassionate and informed society. It is recommended that such awareness programmes continue in the future to keep the issue of AIDS in the public consciousness and encourage support for those affected by the disease.

PROGRAMME REPORT

On November 14, 2019, the College Union for the academic year 2018-19 organised a heartwarming Children's Day celebration at AHLP School in Ramapuram. The event was dedicated to spreading joy and happiness among the young students, making it a memorable day for them. One of the highlights of the celebration was the game events designed especially for the children. These games were both fun and educational, aiming to engage the kids in a playful and constructive manner. The children actively participated in various games and activities, fostering a spirit of camaraderie and competition.

Additionally, a special "Children's Day Line Up" was conducted, likely featuring a range of entertaining activities and performances that showcased the talents and creativity of the students. This segment provided a platform for the children to express themselves and brought joy to the audience. The Children's Day celebration was a delightful and memorable event, creating a joyful atmosphere that left a positive impact on both the children and the organizers. It celebrated the spirit of childhood and the importance of nurturing and cherishing the younger generation.

DATE: 01/11/2019

PROGRAMME REPORT

On November 1, 2019, the College Union for the academic year 2018-19 at Gems Arts and Science College in Ramapuram organised a vibrant Kerala Piravi celebration on the college grounds. The event showcased the rich cultural heritage of Kerala and its traditional art forms, with a special presentation of Kalaripayattu, a traditional martial art. The celebration brought together students, faculty, and the local community to commemorate Kerala Piravi, the state's formation day. The event not only marked the significance of this special day but also aimed to promote and preserve Kerala's unique traditions.

Kalaripayattu, as the centrepiece of the celebration, demonstrated the ancient martial art form's beauty and power. The skilled performers showcased their agility and precision in this captivating display. The performance left the audience in awe and served as a reminder of Kerala's rich cultural and martial heritage. The event was a testament to the College Union's efforts in fostering a sense of cultural pride and tradition, leaving a lasting impression on everyone in attendance. It celebrated the essence of Kerala Piravi in a memorable and meaningful way.

FOOD FEST ON WORLD TOURISM DAY- DEPARTMENT OF BACHELOR OF TRAVEL AND TOURISM MANAGEMENT

DATE: 21/09/2019

PROGRAMME REPORT

On September 27, 2019, the Department of Bachelor of Travel and Tourism Management (BTTM) organised a delightful food fest in celebration of World Tourism Day. This exciting event took place in the welcoming atmosphere of the third-year BTTM classroom, transforming it into a culinary haven for both students and faculty alike.

The food fest aimed to showcase the diverse culinary traditions from around the world, reflecting the essence of tourism—exploring new cultures through their cuisines. The event featured an array of mouthwatering dishes, each representing a different country. From savoury Indian curries to Italian pasta, Japanese sushi to Mexican tacos, there was something to tantalise every palate.

The third-year BTTM students played a pivotal role in the success of the food fest, not only by preparing the delectable dishes but also by decorating the classroom to create an immersive cultural experience. The event was open to all, promoting inclusivity and diversity within the department.

The food fest was a resounding success, fostering a sense of unity and appreciation for the global flavours that tourism brings to our doorstep. It not only celebrated World Tourism Day but also served as a reminder of the importance of cultural exchange and exploration in the field of travel and tourism.

WORLD TEACHERS DAY CELEBRATION-

PG DEPARTMENT OF MICROBIOLOGY

DATE: 05/10/2019

PROGRAMME REPORT

On the occasion of World Teachers' Day, celebrated annually on October 5th, the Department of Microbiology organised a special event to honour and appreciate the dedicated teachers within the department. The event aimed to express gratitude towards the faculty members for their unwavering commitment to educating and mentoring students in the field of microbiology. With the participation of 10 individuals, the celebration proved to be a heartwarming and memorable experience.

The Department of Microbiology planned a gift exchange activity to grace the teachers with thoughtful presents as tokens of appreciation. Faculty members, teaching assistants, and students came together to express their gratitude and recognition for the valuable guidance and support provided by the teachers. Each participant was assigned a teacher's name and presented a beautifully wrapped gift as a gesture of gratitude. The gifts ranged from personalised items to meaningful tokens, symbolising the impact of the teachers' guidance.

Such events play a crucial role in fostering a positive teaching and learning environment. They reinforce the importance of acknowledging and appreciating the hard work and dedication of educators. The Department of Microbiology hopes to continue organising similar events in the future, nurturing a culture of gratitude and mutual respect within the academic community.

WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY CELEBRATION- TREE PLANTING-

PG DEPARTMENT OF MICROBIOLOGY

DATE: 05/06/2019

PROGRAMME REPORT

The PG Department of Microbiology, in conjunction with World Environment Day, organised a tree planting programme on June 5, 2019, in the college garden. With a focus on environmental conservation and sustainability, this initiative aimed to create awareness about the importance of trees in preserving the ecosystem. The following report provides a comprehensive overview of the event. The event commenced with an introduction to World Environment Day and the significance of tree planting in environmental conservation. A brief awareness session highlighted the crucial role of trees in maintaining ecological balance and mitigating climate change. The participants, including students and faculty members, actively engaged in the tree-planting activity. They were divided into small groups and assigned specific areas in the college garden for planting the saplings. Proper techniques for digging holes, handling saplings, and backfilling soil were demonstrated to ensure the optimal growth and survival of the trees. Following the successful planting of the saplings, a plantation ceremony was held to celebrate the collective effort towards environmental conservation. The ceremony included speeches by faculty members, highlighting the importance of individual responsibility in preserving the environment. Participants were provided with care and maintenance guidelines to ensure the survival and growth of the planted trees. Instructions on regular watering, mulching, and protection from pests and diseases were shared to encourage long-term involvement and engagement in the conservation process. By organising such initiatives, the PG Department of Microbiology demonstrated its dedication to environmental protection and inspired others to contribute to the global effort of preserving our planet for future generations.

WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY CELEBRATION- INTERACTIVE SESSION ON THE INTERSECTION OF CLOUD COMPUTING AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT - DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTER APPLICATIONS

DATE: 05/06/2019

On June 5, 2019, in celebration of World Environment Day, an illuminating interactive session was hosted, focusing on the intersection of cloud computing and environmental impact. The distinguished speaker for the event was Hari K, the Head of the Department of Business Computer Applications (BCA). Hari K, with his extensive expertise, elucidated the intricate relationship between technological advancements in cloud computing and their repercussions on the environment. He shed light on the exponential growth of data centers and the substantial energy consumption associated with them. The session underscored the imperative for adopting sustainable practices within the realm of cloud computing. Hari K emphasized the need for conscientious decision-making in data center operations, advocating for energy-efficient technologies and the integration of renewable energy sources. His insights inspired participants to reflect on the environmental footprint of their digital activities and encouraged the adoption of eco-friendly measures in the ever-evolving landscape of cloud computing. The session, led by Hari K, effectively bridged the gap between technological innovation and environmental responsibility, aligning with the ethos of World Environment Day and fostering a heightened awareness of the ecological considerations within the domain of cloud computing.
